

Burndown Chart

Explanation

The burndown chart for sprint 2 has remaining work going up as the main points were split into smaller tasks that were realistically completable by the end of the sprint. As some team members were busy with midterms this week, most team members completed their work towards the end of the sprint. Each story was split into 4-5 subtasks and all team members worked on those subtasks, asking for assistance from the team as needed, on a regular basis.